

ICE SHORTAGE IS NOW PASSED

Moderation in Weather and Increase in Output Relieves Situation.

BAN MAY BE LIFTED

Soft Drink Stands Likely to Be Released and Cracked Ice May Again Be Used.

The ice shortage is over. Moderation in the weather combined with the added output of the Charles Reif company, of fifteen tons of ice daily, has changed the situation to such an extent that every one who wants it is now being supplied with ice.

A conference of the principal ice dealers in the city was held this morning and they were very optimistic over the way things are turning, and assured a News reporter that every one wanting ice could be supplied.

DIRECTOR PRESTON NOT ALTOGETHER SATISFIED

Some of the Counties Not Coming Up With Their Thrift Stamp Sales.

T. R. Preston, state director for Tennessee for the sale of thrift stamps and war savings certificates, expects to visit Chattanooga in a few days if he can so arrange his affairs as to be absent a day or two from Chattanooga. It is stated that the situation in that county is peculiar, in that the campaign has been virtually turned over to the women by the regularly appointed chairman, Mr. Preston expects to visit Kingston Springs and address a public meeting.

Montgomery county is calling for assistance. The results of the drive there have been disappointing as any person could gather by talking with the forces at headquarters. So far no explanation has been made of why the total of pledges fall so far short of the quota in that large and wealthy county. Mr. Emerson, the bank organizer, will go into Montgomery at an early date to assist in devising a plan to reach the people there, the majority of whom are able financially to make larger pledges.

Mr. Emerson and Mr. Maine have been giving Madison county some attention, and reports indicate that the Jackson headquarters will have improved reports to file within a short time.

Mr. Preston was not satisfied with conditions he recently discovered by a visit to McMinn county. That county is placed alongside of Rhea and Bradley, both of which are in fair way to go over and it is difficult to explain what is the matter with McMinn. To frankly state the case, McMinn is a disappointment to state headquarters. For some reason the war savings campaign has not been effectively waged here.

CONDITION OF QUARTERS OF WOMEN AT COUNTY JAIL ARE IMPROVED

Inmates Better Satisfied With New Location, but Ask That They be Given Linen.

Since the insanitary conditions existing at the county jail were made public in The News on Aug. 18, there has been a marked improvement in the conditions existing there. The women prisoners who are confined within the walls of the jail receiving treatment for venereal diseases have been moved out of their former cells and have been placed in entirely new quarters. The section of the jail which was formerly known as the juvenile department, or, as some one "dubbed" it, "King Edward's section," is now occupied by the immoral women.

All of the women who are confined in this section of the jail state that they are very much pleased with conditions. Those who were in the other section of the jail do not hesitate to say that their new home is much more sanitary and that they do not have as much "crawling" company as they had in the previous quarters. One of the young girls confined stated that she had been but one bug since they had been moved. Another one remarked they liked it so much better because they had so much more light and sunshine and fresh air.

Their new quarters are kept in a clean and sanitary condition. A number of new mattresses have been purchased by the jail authorities to take the place of the dirty, filthy ones that were lying on the jail floors a week ago as beds for the women to sleep upon. Those who were not so fortunate as to have one of these beds were forced to sleep on the floor. Now each one of the girls is supplied with a clean bed. However, they do not have any bed linen whatsoever.

One woman, who was among those who were removed from the other section of the building into the new part, has been given a cell which is more or less of itself. Here she has done everything in her power to make just as attractive a place as possible. With towels and other things brought to her by outside friends, she has arranged the shelf in her cell in an attractive way, and has hanging from it a large silk service flag with a blue star in the center, which, she states, is for her husband, who is now in France. When seen by a reporter on Monday afternoon, she was busily engaged in cutting out an apron on her bed, which she was planning to make. This, she admitted, was better than doing nothing. The girls all seemed to be better satisfied, and the only thing they asked "Uncle Charlie" Whitcomb, the jailer, for as he passed through was soap and bed linen.

Jailer Whitcomb told the reporter that the authorities had not yet furnished him with a different kind of disinfectant, but that they were continuing to send the same kind as used before. The jailer declared that just as long as this is used he will be unable to get rid of the vermin which has infested the jail.

When the hospital at the Florence Crittenton home to be erected by the city and county officials is completed, the major part of the women will be held there for treatment by the government officials, and the conditions will be much better than in the jail.

SUES FOR LOSS OF SIGHT AND HEARING

E. A. Shoff Claims He Has Been Injured to Extent of $50,000.

A suit was entered in the circuit court Tuesday morning by E. A. Shoff against the Chattanooga Railway and Light company, asking $50,000 damages for personal injuries he charged he received through the negligence and carelessness of the defendant company. The complainant claims that he was an employee of the company, working at the Cliff street powerhouse, and that while there engaged, he was forced to use a defective transformer. Complainant charges that while using the transformer, on account of its defective condition, a fuse was blown out and his hearing in one ear destroyed, one eye badly injured, and he was otherwise injured and bruised. He charges he has suffered great mental and physical pain and forced to pay out large sums for doctor's bills. The suit was filed through Tatum, Thack & Lynch.

BILL FILED SEEKING TO PARTITION ESTATE

Suit was entered in the chancery court Tuesday morning by Joe Vandegriff against R. P. Selzer, executor of the estate of the late P. T. Bradford. The suit, which is seeking the partitioning of the Bradford estate, was filed through W. A. Schofield.

SLACKER TITLE DOES NOT APPLY TO WILLIAM COMBS

He Has Been in Uncle Sam's Service Several Months and Is Now Overseas.

In a "slacker list" published in the morning paper of Monday, William Combs was named as a slacker.

G. H. Combs, the young man's father,

WILLIAM COMBS

Young Chattanooga Who Is "Somewhere Over There" Doing His Bit for World Democracy.

er wants it known that Lis son is not a slacker. William has been in the service several months and is now "over there" doing his bit toward making the world safe for democracy.

Mr. Combs also wants it known that he has another son, Cobb, who is not yet 18, but who expects to offer his services to Uncle Sam.

William Combs volunteered, and on March 27 became a member of the headquarters troop of the Sixth division, then stationed at Chickamauga. He was a chauffeur for Col. Abner Pickering. He later went to Camp Wadsworth and then to New York.

Sixty-one boys from Ridgedale, practically all of whom attended the Ridgedale school, are in the service of their country. Young Combs is one of this number. The majority of these young men, if not all of them, are overseas.

G. H. Combs, the proud father, was for a number of years an employee of the Converse Bridge company. For some time he has been an employee of the city, in the department of streets and sewers, under Commissioner E. D. Bass.

DONKEY DISSENTS TO SQUIRE'S OPINION

Animal Butts Into Court Proceedings and Nearly Gets Everybody Present Fined.

An amusing story is going the rounds on Squire J. J. Bork of an opinion rendered by a donkey blithely in front of his place. The case was one against the Templeman Piano company, and the plaintiff was represented by T. Pope Shepherd. Mr. Shepherd stated that after the trial was all over, Squire Bork decided the case in favor of the piano company. At this juncture silence in the little justice shop reigned supreme, no one saying a word. About this time the donkey of Chas. Jones, which is always in some way in the way, turned towards the squire's office and loudly brayed. Some unkind person present said, "Squire, the donkey seems to have dissented from your opinion."

The squire is then charged with threatening to fine everybody present for contempt of his court.

COLOR FOR PRISONERS' GARB DECIDED UPON

All War Prisoners Must Wear Uniform Selected by Quartermaster Corps.

The quartermaster corps has been working for some time on the problem of supplying suitable clothing for war prisoners. Specifications are now being drawn for suits to be made of a material in color between a brick red and a brown. The cloth is heavy and not likely to show dirt as easily as a lighter color would. It has a black stripe, but the stripes do not run around the garment as is usual in the old style of prisoner's suit. The color is unusual enough to make it conspicuous, and one wearing it is likely to be better remembered than if he wore one of the many colors now in use for uniforms. The weight is not sufficient to be objectionable at any time of the year in either this or the French climate. It is announced that it will be some time before this suit is ready for issue.

MESSAGE CAUSES SINCERE SORROW

Unconfirmed Report That Lieut. Foster V. Brown, Jr., Has Been Killed.

ANOTHER HERO FALLEN

Chattanooga Called Upon to Pay Heavy Toll to War in France.

A telegram to Hon. Foster V. Brown from United States Senator Kenneth D. McKellar stated that the war department had received no casualty report of any kind on Mr. Brown's son, Lieut. Foster V. Brown, Jr., who is unofficially reported to have made the supreme sacrifice "over there."

"This indicates," the senator's message explained, "that the wound is slight, as minor wounds are not reported. Will advise you if any report is received."

Malvern Harris, son of Mrs. L. C. Harris, of Harriman, who is in a hospital in France, recovering from wounds received in action, stated in a letter to his mother that Lieut. Brown was killed. And he was certainly a brave man. Young Harris wrote, "with never a thought for himself, but always thinking of the safety and welfare of his men. He was certainly a noble and honorable death."

The sad message was brought to Chattanooga by N. C. Blanchard, uncle of Malvern Harris. Mr. Blanchard, who is president of the James Supply company, being aware that no word of Lieut. Brown's death had been received in this city, broke the news upon his arrival here Monday afternoon. He is a friend of the Brown family.

Although it was feared that the shock would be too great for the father of the gallant young officer, whose health has been giving his family and friends grave concern, he received the news calmly, and a little later was persuaded to go to his home on Signal mountain. Telegrams were sent during the afternoon to Washington in an effort to learn further information.

When word of Lieut. Brown's death became circulated, it soon spread to all parts of the city and brought forth expressions of profound sorrow and tender sympathy for his people.

While hope is held out that the official report might be a mistake, it is believed that it is true, as it came from a member of the young officer's company.

Lieut. Foster V. Brown, Jr., was one of Chattanooga's best known and best liked young men. Endowed with a sunny, friendly nature, he easily retained friendships and made new friends. Word that he had fallen "over there" while doing his bit in the thick of battle brought the great conflict a step closer home to Chattanooga and quickened the thoughts of Chattanooga as to the seriousness of war.

Several of this city's brave sons have made the supreme sacrifice. Especially has the city been saddened during the past few days. The splendid young men who have given their lives for the cause of world democracy are an exemplification of those beautiful lines:

"On fame's immortal camping ground,
Their silent tents are spread,
And glory guards with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead."

Although handicapped by a frail constitution, but endowed with an indomitable will power and remarkable spirit of perseverance, Lieut. Brown was soon after the war broke out and endeavored to obtain a place as assistant paymaster in the navy. He was a few pounds under weight and was turned down. Undaunted because of his failure to pass the examination for the navy, he returned to Chattanooga, determined to get in the first training camp at Fort Oglethorpe.

He found, however, that the camp was filled, but that he did not discover this until he had been accepted. He made several trips to the post and finally secured admittance to the camp. He worked hard, gained flesh and greatly improved in health. His diligence and soldierly qualities were rewarded with the commission of a second lieutenant. When volunteers were wanted for service overseas, Foster V. Brown, Jr., was the first man to sign up. With young officers, among whom were Lieuts. Carl H. Hood, James C. Loder, Chris Timothy and Clifford Grayson, he left for a port of embarkation and was soon in France. All three of the last named officers have made the supreme sacrifice.

Lieut. Brown was 27 years of age. He graduated from Cumberland University Law school and was actively engaged in the practice of his profession when he responded to the call to the colors. He was a young man of brilliant intellect.

His father is one of the state's leading and most learned lawyers. For a number of years he has been in the law firm of Brown, Spurlock & Brown. He is the father of the young lieutenant and the senior member, commands one of the largest and most lucrative law practices in the city. Mr. Brown practices law in the city of Chattanooga.

Despite the fact that the law firm of Brown, Spurlock & Brown has been in the city since the outbreak of the war was declared to devote his entire time and attention to city exemption board No. 1. He is chairman of this board.

PROFITEERING DENTIST WILL PAY FOR WORK

Required by Committee to Bear Expense of Having It Done Over.

In connection with the account which appeared in yesterday evening's News concerning the attempts of a local advertising dentist to profiteer at the expense of Private Babes, a foreign-born soldier at the city hospital, it was learned that the dentist, who is Dr. J. Gordon Harrill, of 829 1-2 Market street, who recently came here from Knoxville, had reached an agreement with the profiteering committee to have the work done over by some other dentist, the cost not to exceed the amount charged the soldier by him. The original decision of the committee was to have the money refunded by Dr. Harrill, but the above compromise has been reached.

The following list of reputable dentists has been posted on the bulletin boards of the camps in Chickamauga: Drs. Austin & Caine, Henry & Byington, C. V. Fouts, R. C. Graham, L. Varnell, T. L. Allen, Hunt, Taylor, C. H. Hunter, F. W. Meacham, O. J. O'Neal, O. H. Parnell, C. H. Smith, Stone & Brooks, N. R. Stone, W. F. Stone, F. W. Wallace, D. R. Houn, W. G. Wagon, W. Wagner, Graham, W. S. LIEUT. FOSTER V. BROWN, JR.

Prominent Young Officer, Son of Foster V. Brown, Sr., Reported Killed in France.

WORK TO BEGIN AS SOON AS PLANS ARE FOUND

Misplaced Specifications Delay Work for Present.

The delay in finding the original plans for the construction of the medical hospital at St. Elmo on the Crittenton home property resulted in the postponement of the breaking of the ground Monday, Dr. Tom McCallie, who is chairman of the information committee, stated Monday morning that the plans had not been found. However, duplicate will be secured from the architects at once and the buildings started this week.

When asked if he thought there would be any delay in getting the money promised by the city and county officials for the construction of the hospital, Dr. McCallie stated that there would not be. While the officials did not give any written promise that they would give $5,000 from the city and county towards the building of the hospital, Dr. McCallie said, they entered into a "gentlemen's agreement," and there would be no getting around it, but they would have to "come across."

It is understood that there will be a building committee appointed to supervise the building of the hospital. Dr. McCallie has been asked to serve on this committee and represent the city and county. However, he says he will not assume this responsibility. There will be a representative of the Rotary club, chamber of commerce and merchants' association, together with members of the city, county and government health service, on this committee.

TRIBUTE PAID CAPT. TOM EMBREY

Friends and Neighbors Want Him to Remain Resident of Franklin County.

"One of the greatest tributes I ever saw paid any man," said Judge Joe V. Williams, "was the one I saw yesterday in Franklin county paid to Capt. T. Embrey, of Winchester. Several days ago, Capt. Embrey signified his intention to enter a branch of the government service which would take him to France. The meeting held yesterday was for the purpose of having Capt. Embrey change his mind and remain in Franklin county, where the work he has carried on has been invaluable. As the county is in need of men bearing the names of almost every man, woman and child, both white and black, have been signed requesting Capt. Embrey to remain at his home."

"While Capt. Embrey showed that he appreciated the respect and honor thus paid him by his neighbors and friends, he has not decided what course to pursue. It is believed that he will now come to France, as he believes he can do a greater work over there."

F. H. Sutton entered suit in the circuit court Tuesday morning against the Mackenney Trunk and Sample Case company, asking $5,000 damages. The suit grew out of the striking of the company's motorcycle by the defendant's automobile, in which Sutton was badly injured. The suit was filed through Tatum, Thack & Lynch and R. A. Cogswell.

FARMERS GET LOANS ON SHORT TERM ABSTRACTS

One of the greatest difficulties in getting loans from the banks in Tennessee has been the difficulty of securing satisfactory abstracts of titles. Many loans have been held up for months while this matter was being adjusted; and besides the delay, the expense of securing long-term abstracts is often high, says C. E. Alfred, farm specialist of the University of Tennessee.

Walter Howell, president of the federal land bank for this district, says: "The Federal Land Bank of Louisville has just completed arrangements with a group of surety companies whereby we obtain a bond that will enable us to accept what is known as short-term abstracts, which, we believe, will be a great saving to the applicants for loans in the cost of the compilation of same, and at the same time will save the abstractor considerable delay in getting abstracts to this bank promptly. The bond covers the defects in any title prior to the date of the beginning of the abstract."

"The short-term abstract will be as complete an abstract as is prepared today, save only that it will not trace the title back to its original source or to some remote period. On the contrary, the abstractor will only be required to begin with a will, conveyance or other method of acquisition of title recorded prior to a date which will be at least eight years counting from the date of the abstractor's first certificate. The premium on this bond is to be paid by the applicants, the charges being 25 cents per $100, with a minimum charge of $2.50. The charge will be deducted from the face of the loan at the time the same is closed. We believe that the saving in the cost of the abstract will more than offset the above charge."

RETAIL DEALERS MUST REGISTER

Requisite Required in Order to Secure Coal Prescribed by Administrator.

QUESTIONNAIRES ISSUED

No Charges Made for Certificates but They Must Be Secured.

Regulations requiring the retail coal dealers to register have been received by local Administrator W. E. Wilkerson. The necessary blanks are on hand at his office and must be filled out by Sept. 1.

This new ruling has been issued by the state administrator to assure an equitable distribution of coal and coke in this state, and more effectively to regulate the sale, shipment, distribution, apportionment and storage of coal and coke among dealers and consumers.

The order received by Mr. Wilkerson regarding the registration of the coal dealers reads as follows:

"All persons, firms, associations and corporations engaged in the distribution of coal or coke in the state of Tennessee as retail dealers, who physically receive, handle and deliver coal or coke to consumers from docks, yards, trestles, vehicles, barges or vessels, owned, hired or chartered by them, or from cars consigned to them, including employers who sell and distribute coal or coke to employees, shall on or before Sept. 1, 1918, or if they begin business after that day they before beginning business, register with the county fuel administrator of each county in which a dock, yard, or trestle owned or hired by such retail dealer is located, and of each county in which such retail dealer delivers or distributes coal or coke to consumers."

The regulation further provides that dealers who register shall receive certificates signed by the county fuel administrator, which shall be prominently posted in a conspicuous place at each office or place of business. It also provides that each retail dealer doing business under more than one name or through a subsidiary company or agencies bearing different names must register under and obtain certificates for each separate name.

No Fees Charged.

The regulations state plainly that there will be no fee charge for the registration. However, the coal dealers who fail to register will be subject to the penalties prescribed in the act of congress. The regulation further provides that no dealer can purchase or sell any coal, who is not previously registered with the administrator.

Individuals or clubs of individuals buying and receiving coal in carload lots direct from mines for domestic use, provided there is no margin of profit to such individual or individuals, are not required to register nor receive certificate under this order. However, it reads that it is necessary for them to secure a permit from the administrator. The names of those who register will be reported to the office of Mr. Myer in Nashville immediately after Sept. 1 by Mr. Wilkerson.

Information Asked.

The information asked for on the registration blanks calls for the date of the establishment of business of distributing coal coke by said dealer; if registrant is a corporation, state where incorporated, date of incorporation, amount of issued capital stock, names and addresses of officers and directors; if registrant is a partnership, firm or association, state full name and address of each member; will the main office report, as required in addition to its own business, all business transacted by all branch offices, if not, state which branch office will make separate reports; storage capacity (principal place of business); gross tons annually; net tons bituminous. When business is conducted at more than one location, show your principal place of business to which all communications will be addressed, railroad or railroads serving such yard. Show below all other locations where you conduct a retail fuel business for which you wish to have registration certificates issued. Address of all branch offices of registrant; do you sell coal for delivery by common carrier in carload lots; are you licensed as a distributor of coal and coke by the United States fuel administrator.

Many of the dealers have already called at the office of Mr. Wilkerson, in the Hamilton Bank building, and secured the necessary blanks in order to get them filled out early and sent in.

MAKING A BEE LINE FOR THE GREEN FLAG

That flag is the sign of the best MOTOR OIL.

The kind you ought to use

The best is none too good, applies directly and forcefully to MOTOR OIL. If you could afford it, pure castor oil wouldn't be too good for your motor; but the cost would be prohibitive. Did you know that the great army of flyers "over there" use pure castor oil for their flying machine motors?—well, they do; and notwithstanding the enormous demand for castor oil for the winged machines of the daring birdmen, we are able to get enough to make it one of the basic constituents of

"GREEN FLAG" MOTOR OIL

This is what gives "GREEN FLAG" its surprising clarity and its wonderful uniformity of distribution and lubrication. More mileage, more power, and more economy per gallon in "GREEN FLAG" MOTOR OIL, makes it the continued preference of motorists who have a regard for the wear of their motors.

There's a "GREEN FLAG" dealer in your city. Hunt him up. He not only sells, but recommends "GREEN FLAG" MOTOR OIL. That's a whole lot better than just buying oil that has no name, that you can buy at any old place that no one in particular will take the trouble to recommend. We guarantee the quality of "GREEN FLAG" and your dealer will do so as well. The best dealer in your city is selling "GREEN FLAG." Look for the sign of the "green flag" waving over his doorway.
